ATR VERDICT: Loch Frisa sets the standard, albeit a modest one, with an official rating of 98 and he looks sure to go well in this weak contest. However, preference is for the lightly-raced CASTANEA BREEZE, who was placed in two of his three bumper starts and Lucy Wadham's gelding may appreciate the step up in trip on his hurdling bow. He's A Diamond looks best of the rest.

ATR VERDICT: The switch to handicap company has seen ALEXANDRA LAROSE in a much better light, with the five-year-old arriving in search of a hat-trick of victories. The most recent of those came at Southwell last week and she is capable of further progression, despite a 7lb penalty. Hellfire Princess may bounce back from her latest effort at Ludlow, at a track where she has tasted success before. Others to note are Leave Her To Me and Jackeline.

ATR VERDICT: I'm Your Buckaroo (second) was no match for YOUDECIDE (winner) at Huntingdon a fortnight ago and while the former now sports cheekpieces and is 5lb better off, Ben Pauling's gelding is expected to prove too strong once again. Bodygroove made a successful handicap bow in this sphere over 2m at Wetherby recently and, given that he escapes a penalty for that triumph, he must be feared. Rhiannon Ring is noted too.

ATR VERDICT: BELLAS BRIDGE took a step back in the right direction when runner-up at Chepstow 10 days ago and Jamie Snowden's mare appears to have been found an ideal opportunity for a first success over timber. Lara Kaleo may have finished closer but for a bad mistake at the last when third on her racecourse debut over 2m here. She is more than entitled to improve from that effort, while Versace Twentyone appears best of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: This is less competitive than the races ISSAR D'AIRY has been contesting in recent months and is an excellent opportunity for Gary and Josh Moore's gelding. At the foot of the handicap, Ostend could find more for the addition of a first-time tongue-tie. Ryan's Rocket has few miles on the clock but, although respected, a tendency to race keenly could be an issue in this small field.

ATR VERDICT: ISKAR D'AIRY was a revelation at Huntingdon last week when allowed to make the running, and the seven-year-old is expected to be a tough nut to crack if arriving here in similar form. Night Jet lost a shoe when underperforming at Bangor last time and has every chance of leaving that effort behind him. Dirty Den and Chestnut Pete head the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: NOBODY'S PERFECT travelled powerfully to score by a comfortable four lengths over an extended 2m2f at Exeter earlier in the month and the handicapper might have been kind to only put her up 6lb. The six-year-old makes only her third handicap start and could have more to offer. Feet On The Ground only managed a well-held fourth on her first start in a handicap, but she would be foolish to dismiss off a 2lb lower mark. Mistress Emma completes the shortlist.

ATR VERDICT: Having not enjoyed the best of passages when finishing fifth in a Group 3 at Salisbury in September last year, the returning GREYDREAMBELIEVER makes grand appeal on her all-weather debut. Karl Burke's filly is sure to appreciate these calmer waters and she looks capable of defying a 7lb penalty. The biggest threat is likely to emerge from Glamour Show, who has posted several creditable efforts in defeat. Volcanic Dancer is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: Shameful made the perfect start to his racing career when landing the spoils at Newbury in September and there is likely more to come. However, a 7lb penalty could leave Clive Cox's inmate vulnerable and MARVELMAN edges the vote. The son of Invincible Spirit ended his last campaign with a brace of runner-up efforts and that form looks slightly stronger. Man Of La Mancha may fare best of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: FEARNOT impressed with his finishing effort from the rear when making a winning debut at Wolverhampton earlier this month. The Invincible Spirit colt was value for further and a switch to Polytrack shouldn't prevent another bold bid. Having undergone a wind procedure since his fifth-placed effort at Newcastle in November, White Crown Star may serve the most resistance to the selection, ahead of Westlain.

ATR VERDICT: MCINTOSH confirmed the promise of his debut second at Chelmsford when going one better at Wolverhampton. Both of those races came over 6f, but he stayed on to excellent effect at Dunstall Park so even more is expected now he tackles 7f on his handicap bow. Lady Manzor and Jack Dace have created a good partnership, completing a Lingfield/C&D double, and Amanda Perrett's filly has to be feared. So, too, must Penelope Valentine, even though she has been hit with an 8lb hike for an emphatic track-and-trip triumph. Throw Packetofbiscuits and Bermuda Princess into the mix too.

ATR VERDICT: WHIZZ BY landed her first three handicaps and although the winning spree came to an end when upped to a mile, there was no disgrace in chasing home a progressive colt. She has to prove her mettle away from Southwell, but the return to 7f is in her favour and there should be more to come. Macedonian got up in the shadows of the post to break his duck over 6f here so the extra furlong is in his favour. ATR VERDICT: MOUNT ATHOS has won the two previous renewals of this race, both times following breaks, so it shouldn't matter that he has been off since finishing in mid-division in a Deauville Listed contest at the start of December. He picked up a similar prize there a month previously and is just 1lb higher than when successful 12 months ago. Roi De France found only the ill-fated Poker Face too good in the Hyde Stakes here, but Popmaster is weighted to get the better of him now 5lb better off for finishing just a neck away in third. Golden Mind pipped Heathcliff over 6f before being outclassed in the Lady Wulfruna at Wolverhampton.

ATR VERDICT: BEST RATE took a step forward when getting off the mark on his most recent outing over 7f at Wolverhampton in December. A subsequent gelding operation may bring about further improvement from Richard Hannon's inmate and he tops the shortlist in an open event. The unbeaten Kameel is another handicap debutant who merits plenty of respect. Others to note are Sweet Fantastic, Spirit Lead Me and Brindavan.

ATR VERDICT: The hat-trick seeking Collusion has to be of interest but a 4lb rise for his latest win will make life tougher for him here. As a result, preference is for HARRY BROWN, who has been running consistently well in defeat of late and can make his presence felt in a race of this nature. Arlecchino's Gift edges out Four Adaay and First Company to be best of the rest.

ATR VERDICT: All of these have claims, but none more so than DONALD LLEWELLYN. The eight-year-old made a winning return to the level over 1m4f at Lingfield earlier in the month and this step up in trip should not be a problem for him. Legacy Power has not been seen since May but he won a similar C&D event off this mark just three starts ago, while Doublethetrouble completes the shortlist.
