ATR VERDICT: Cameron Highlander made a pleasing debut when third over 1m at Newcastle last month and he looks best of the experienced runners, but at least one or two of the newcomers might prove to be better than him. The one who makes most appeal is Harry Eustace's SEA OF KINGS, who cost 250,000 euros as a foal and is certainly bred to have plenty of ability being a full-brother to dual Group 1 winner Sea Of Class. Munsif must enter calculations representing Roger Varian, while Belaya River is also of interest.

ATR VERDICT: SOME PERFORMANCE showed plenty of promise on both outings last year notably when a close fourth at the Curragh behind Expanded. That form looks very strong in the context of this race as the winner was only beaten a neck seven days later in the Dewhurst Stakes at Newmarket. No Such Thing made a promising debut when runner-up to Orchidaceae in a 21-runner Curragh maiden and again advertised his claims when placed behind the odds-on Currawood over 7f at Dundalk last month. Desmond Castle is not the most consistent of performers but has claims on his second to Montpellier Green in a 7f Curragh nursery.

ATR VERDICT: A few to consider with the likes of Dream Illusion, Bear Island and Lever Up all having the potential to improve now sent handicapping, but IT'S ONLY FUN gets the vote. Jennie Candlish's gelding made a mockery of an opening mark of 67 when bolting up at Musselburgh on his reappearance recently and a 6lb penalty shouldn't be any barrier to further success on that evidence.

ATR VERDICT: MUTASARREF has proved a great servant to connections with ten career wins and is very effective at this venue scoring four times. The selection had Lord Massusus back in third when taking the Group 3 Desmond Stakes over C&D last August and was also successful on his latest start over a mile at Cork. Uluru showed smart placed form last year including when only beaten a length in the Sandringham Stakes over this trip at Royal Ascot and is well treated by the conditions, while This Songisforyou also boasts high level handicap form having landed the 'Northfields' at the Curragh last autumn. Bluedrum was second to Jancis in a Group 3 over 7f here last summer and has scope for further improvement.

ATR VERDICT: A chance can be taken on OLIVIA JANE, who is better than she showed at Kempton last month having got upset in the stalls. Eased 3lb in the handicap, a switch to turf ought to suit the daughter of Dark Angel and with fitness on her side, she could find the necessary progress. Zarathos shaped with promise when third at Southwell in February and is unlikely to be far away, along with the consistent Antiquity.

ATR VERDICT: COMFORT LINE won three times on turf for Mick Mulvany before recording a further six wins over the past 18 months at Dundalk for current connections. The selection has been a model of consistency this year and had Imperial Fighter back in fifth when successful last time over this trip on the Polytrack. The Bear Trap and Moyassr are others for the shortlist having also won at Dundalk last time, while Enchanted Garden scored in good style over C&D last summer and reportedly scoped badly when disappointing on her only subsequent start. Pier Pressure and Morning Approach are others to consider.

ATR VERDICT: It is difficult to oppose AL QAREEM, who, although having to concede weight all round, is 10lb clear of his nearest rival on official ratings. The gelded son of Awtaad should come forward from a recent spin at Saint Cloud and is taken to repel the challenge of Real Dream. Align The Stars has some strong handicap form in the book and is no back number.

ATR VERDICT: BROWNE OFF was given a lowly rating after three modest maiden runs at Dundalk but showed definite promise on her handicap debut here over a mile. The Paul Flynn-trained filly only weakened inside the final furlong when beaten just over four lengths and should be suited by this shorter trip. Are You In Or Out filled the runner-up spot twice last year including on her penultimate start when beating all bar Genuine Jim in a 24-runner handicap over this trip at the Curragh. Half Nutz likes to come from off the pace and is seeking a seventh career win on his first start for Chris Timmons.

ATR VERDICT: GENTLE WARRIOR impressed when winning by nine and a half lengths over C&D when last seen and could have plenty more to offer now he has proven himself capable over this distance. The handicapper dished out a 9lb hike for that but he's still lightly raced and might be able to kick on. War Hawk is feared most, turned out under a penalty after last week's Lingfield triumph. Handicap debutants Anglophile, Epimeteo and Sourdough also command respect.

ATR VERDICT: COSMIC YEAR is prominent in the betting market for next month's 2000 Guineas at Newmarket and is difficult to oppose on his reappearance. The son of Kingman trounced his rivals over 7f at Sandown in September and this should set him up nicely for a tilt at the big one. Honved failed to confirm the promise of his debut second at Wolverhampton when disappointing at Doncaster, so newcomers National Park and Hit Squad could prove bigger threats.

ATR VERDICT: The winner of two of his last three starts over 7f at Southwell, GRAND KARAT has flourished since being gelded and appeals strongly returning from a break off a potentially workable rating. The versatile son of Gleneagles was a close second on his only previous attempt over C&D and could go one better if he copes with stepping up in class. United Approach has won fresh from an absence in the past and is feared most on that basis, while Yorkshire and Blue Prince are others who could have a big say.

ATR VERDICT: Papabella made good strides on turf last season and resumes off a workable mark. However, there is a slight query about her record when fresh and others could take advantage of any rustiness, with the low-mileage RIFT VALLEY suggested as the first one to consider. The James Fanshawe-trained filly was a respectable fourth, despite the jockey dropping the reins, in a Newcastle maiden last month and could be a different proposition debuting in a handicap with her match-fitness topped up. Four Adaay and Kensington Agent are other solid contenders.

ATR VERDICT: Captain Brett has posted two creditable efforts in defeat since entering handicap company over C&D in February and he is one of the likelier winners. However, David Simcock's gelding could prove vulnerable to an improver and preference is for the unexposed JUSTENZIA. An opening mark of 63 looks workable for the daughter of Ghaiyyath and she is likely to relish tonight's step up in trip. Staffordshire could also have a say if settling better.
