ATR VERDICT: Narrowly denied on her nursery debut over 5f here last week, GILLALI LASS has the potential to improve for going up in trip and she can break the maiden off the same rating. Shetakesthegold produced a career best on her return from a short break when second at Lingfield and she is of interest, along with Maasai Mata, who could be off a reasonable mark on her handicap bow.

ATR VERDICT: Fresh off Group 1 success at the weekend, the Richard Hughes stable is in top form and this appeals as an ideal opportunity for ROSE OF SPAIN to get off the mark following a second on debut at Wolverhampton. A taking winner first time out at Redcar before finishing down the field in the Queen Mary, Miss Yechance should appreciate this drop in class. Havin A Flyer is another open to improvement following a creditable third at Musselburgh.

ATR VERDICT: IWANTMYTIMEWITHYOU improves the further he goes, and forged clear at Ripon last week on his first start over 1m4f. This extra test of stamina looks sure to suit the son of Time Test and he can defy a 6lb penalty. Captain Brett opened his account in fine style over today's trip at Yarmouth, and he makes more appeal than both Cherry Cola and Sneaky Blinder with the prospect of more to come.

ATR VERDICT: Equally effective on turf as he is on the all-weather, HERAKLES has a big chance of backing up his game win at Newcastle last month. A 4lb higher rating is manageable and the top-weight looks the way to go. Irish Dancer, a C&D winner under Zak Wheatley in May, has held his form well and can play a big part with the 3lb claimer back in the saddle. Mrs Bagerran and Masterclass are other notable contenders.

ATR VERDICT: SPUDDLING was upped to a similar trip than this at Windsor last month and returned the comfortable winner of a classified contest. He looks potentially well treated back in handicap company with more to come over middle-distances, and Bill Turner's charge looks worth sticking with. Zafaan scored over 1m2f at Yarmouth recently and stays this far. He could pose a bigger threat than the Ffos Las winner Buck Barrow and Leicester runner-up Offiah's Boy.

ATR VERDICT: WHEELS OF FIRE looks a key player and the Richard Hannon-trained colt has a decent chance of making the journey up from his Wiltshire base worthwhile. A respectable third at Goodwood most recently, the son of Mehmas is well worth another try over 6f, having been dropped 1lb. The in-form Ancient Times is another must for consideration as he runs off just 2lb higher than for a C&D triumph on his penultimate start. Chuti Manika also merits a betting check.

ATR VERDICT: FACT OR FABLE is approaching the veteran stage, but is still good enough to win at this level. It was firm ground when Stan Moore's charge landed a classified event here last month, and this contest doesn't look much stronger. Rebel Cove wasn't far behind the selection in third and could shape well again, while Oasis Sunrise found only one too good when last seen over C&D and she could make the frame.

ATR VERDICT: SHOOT TO KILL would appear very well-in under these conditions as he is at least 8lb clear on official ratings. Stephen Thorne's charge can sometimes be slowly away but, with this drop in class, the eight-year-old may be able to get away with it. Conor Cusack rode his first winner in Limerick for Henry De Bromhead on Saturday and the 10lb claimer is once more entrusted with Catena Zapata. He has performed below par on his last couple of starts, but the application of first-time blinkers may spark a revival. Both Captain Hanley and Summer Island ran in Ayr on their latest starts, with the latter performing with credit on the back of strong market support.

ATR VERDICT: National Stakes entries provide some clues in this open affair, with both DIAL ME IN and A Boy Named Susie holding the engagement. Experience may prove valuable so there is marginal preference for Joseph O'Brien's contender, who came from back in the field to just get up on the line in a Leopardstown maiden. The son of Awtaad was clearly learning on the job, suggesting he should progress, with the step up to a mile being of benefit too. The 185,000gns yearling Acclamatic showed some promise when fourth in a Naas barrier trial and should improve for that experience. Wyman is a son of Australia who cost 100,000 euros as a yearling and is worth watching, with the market potentially providing some insight.

ATR VERDICT: Runner-up on debut, HELLORHIGHWATER can go one better. The son of Sergei Prokofiev was very professional and stuck to the task well, but was just unable to catch the winner. Iron Fist sets the standard with an official rating of 84 and he drops back into maiden company after a troubled run in a Curragh handicap. Jousting, who cost $1.2m as a yearling, faded in a Naas maiden last autumn but better is anticipated on his return. Adieu Spirit is also of interest because he cost 180,000gns in the Tattersalls Craven Breeze-Up sale and showed some promise when keeping on for fourth in a Naas barrier trial.

ATR VERDICT: RED LETTER sets the clear standard and should be able to get back to winning ways after narrowly losing out in a race of similar quality. Her two-year-old form obviously reads very well, running well on two occasions behind Irish 1,000 Guineas heroine Lake Victoria. Joseph O'Brien runs three in the race, with the apparent first-string Wannabe Royal, although she was held behind the selection on her latest start and it is hard to see a reversal of that form. The Ballydoyle contingent is headed by Ecstatic, who never figured up in grade in the Ribblesdale, but the drop in trip may aid her cause. The ever-consistent Fiery Lucy can go close once more in this company.

ATR VERDICT: STILL SHE BLOOMS was placed here in May and again forced the pace when only caught close home by Deuteronomy over 1m1f at Leopardstown last month. That latest effort came on soft ground so any significant rain shouldn't be an issue. Liammo and Exceeding are two last-start winners to consider, while Relevant Range was third in a charity race at the Curragh last month and is dropping down to an attractive mark. First reserve Unterberg is another for the shortlist if getting a run following a decisive win at Leopardstown last week.

ATR VERDICT: CELTIC DRUID has struck form recently and followed up a promising third at Leopardstown when successfully stepping up in trip at Bellewstown. The Tom McCourt-trained gelding appeared to have a bit in hand when beating better-fancied stablemate Maxwell Smart, with Tassarolo about eight lengths back in fourth, and can score again off his revised mark. Metamorpheus had the reserves Together Aclaim and Slieve Bearnagh both behind when third to Stepdance over a similar trip at Limerick last weekend, while Dolce Far Niente and Chou Chou have both won recently and now step up in distance.

ATR VERDICT: IFITWASME won both on the Flat and over hurdles last year and impressed on his reappearance at Listowel last month when successfully stepped up to two miles on the level. This trip should provide enough of a stamina test, although a 10lb hike does make life more difficult. Love Sonnet appreciated a step up to 1m3f when scoring on her handicap debut here in May and is an obvious threat with plenty of scope for further improvement. Lady Kai won twice last year, including here over the extended 1m3f, and came home well for fourth on her seasonal debut at Gowran. Coulstys Way is another to consider.

ATR VERDICT: Still relatively unexposed after six career outings, MAUNDY THURSDAY has shown enough ability on each of her last two starts over further to suggest that she can get off the mark on this occasion. It may be Warrior Lion who gives her the most to think about following a highly creditable third at Doncaster on his second run for the in-form Jennie Candlish outfit. Last year's winner Zambezi Magic is another to note, despite a preference for softer ground.
