ATR VERDICT: AMORA QUEEN looked a serious prospect when scoring easily on debut at Doncaster in June, and stepping up in trip can bring about further improvement as she looks to overcome a 7lb penalty. Al Shabab Spirit struggled first time out at Ascot, but his stable are in top form at present and the son of Gleneagles may have a say, while Loblolly is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: A gelding operation seemed to work wonders for AKABUSI when scoring over C&D on his nursery debut last month, and a 3lb rise for that success may not be enough to prevent him from landing a double. A comfortable winner at Pontefract most recently, Sparkling Pink also looks primed to have a big say off 4lb higher. Mare Of London, who wasn't beaten far in second at Leicester last time out, is also noted.

Top Tip: AKABUSI (3)

ATR VERDICT: Mehmas Air Force holds the most experience over her rivals and wasn't disgraced in third at Newbury on her latest outing, so she has to be taken seriously. However, COURT OF STARS improved on her introduction to finish second over track and trip last time and could have lots more to offer. With the Ollie Sangster yard in good form, she will prove hard to beat. Born A Star is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: This can go the way of TYGER BAY, who had a subsequent winner in second when scoring at Kempton last month. A 2lb rise could prove lenient for the son of Cable Bay, and he is preferred to Daytona Lady, who was well behind the selection on that occasion before improving to finish third at Southwell most recently. A highly-creditable second at Wolverhampton, Master Dandy is another to consider, along with Poetic Jack.

ATR VERDICT: Already a C&D winner this year, the in-form Triple Force finished second at Redcar most recently. However, there could be plenty more improvement to come from NIGHTSINWHITESATIN, who fared well again stiffer opposition on her handicap debut at Doncaster last month. From a potentially lenient mark, the daughter of Dark Angel can take a big step forward here. Roman Secret is another solid option.

ATR VERDICT: SAXON LAND came good with a first-time visor added in a similar race at Yarmouth last month and could again be hard to reel in if the retained headgear has the same impact. Fighting Poet won a couple of handicaps at this venue last year and would be a big danger to the selection if recapturing anything like that sort of form. Foinix and Yarborough are the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: River Alwen is a C&D winner who should not be underestimated having won at Lingfield two starts ago. Fihrayn made the frame at Kempton last month and is noted, but SENSE OF REASON gets the vote. Charlie Fellowes' four-year-old has taken the silver medal home the last twice and with Mikkel Mortensen claiming a handy 5lb this time around, he could be the one to beat.

Top Tip: SENSE OF REASON (10)
Watch out for: RIVER ALWEN (9)
