ATR VERDICT: Goodwin and Mount Anglesby both arrive here in winning form and are taken seriously, but the eye is immediately drawn to EL GALACTICO's unexposed profile and there is good reason to side with Neil Mulholland's charge. It was only a four-runner race at Plumpton, but it takes a nice horse to win a novice hurdle under a penalty and he did it really comfortably, proving his versatility trip-wise in the process. He now goes handicapping off 121 and that mark may underestimate the five-year-old.

Top Tip: EL GALACTICO (7)

ATR VERDICT: The ex-French Future Bucks ran out a decisive winner at Windsor on her first start for the Jamie Snowden team, but will do well to successfully concede her penalty to SALLYVILLE LADY. An impressive winner of a point-to-point, the five-year-old offered encouragement behind a couple of geldings on her hurdling bow at Warwick and can build on that. Afancy Getaway also struck between the flags, but must leave last month's Lingfield effort behind. Keep Katie's Melody in mind too.

ATR VERDICT: Von Trotter surpassed market expectations to occupy the runner-up berth on his Newcastle introduction and raced keenly so should appreciate the drop from 6f. The application of a tongue-tie could help Saxon Prince take the necessary step forward, but SOUND AND VISION is getting better with racing and finished third over this trip at Newcastle. If she can just take up a position closer to the early pace, she will be hard to hold out.

Big Ticket and Off The Jury aren't out of this either but the verdict is for GAELIC PRIDE, who has finished runner-up in maiden hurdles at Fontwell and Cheltenham. That latest piece of form at the November fixture reads well and he's the one to beat.

ATR VERDICT: HOUSE OF HABSURG missed out by only a head at Warwick on his recent chasing debut. Due to be raised 6lb for that promising effort, he looks to have strong claims, with Sean Bowen's presence another positive. Fat Faced Columbo left his hurdling form behind when narrowly beaten at Exeter on his chasing and handicap bow. He has plenty of scope for further improvement, while Henry Daly has won two of the last three renewals so Mythe Bridge is worth noting.

ATR VERDICT: Mr Zippi burst back into life at Newcastle last week but he needs to prove that wasn't a fluke and, in any case, his penalty takes him 2lb above his new mark. ELECTRIC BASS appeared to be rewarded for some fine efforts in defeat at Kempton, only to lose a share of the spoils in the stewards' room. He then performed below expectations at Wolverhampton, but can be forgiven that and gets another chance. Taranjerine, Edwardtheninth and Blue Siam have to enter the equation too.

ATR VERDICT: Stencil finished second in a Grade 2 juvenile hurdle at Cheltenham last season, but will need to improve on his fencing bow at the same track last month. Harry Cobden keeps the ride, though, and he's fitted with a first-time hood so could step up. Vanderpoel is another to be interested in, but EXCELERO can edge a tight contest while his impressive jumping display at Warwick remains fresh in the memory.

Long Handicap: Mac's Xpress 10 - 2, Oasis Sunrise 10 - 2

ATR VERDICT: NEWPORT has benefited from a change of scenery. He was having only his second start for Iain Jardine when scoring nicely on soft going at Musselburgh and the five-year-old remains of interest for his new yard, despite his 7lb penalty. Little Venice went close at Leicester when last seen on testing ground and she rates the main danger on that evidence. Urblereagh may improve on his handicap debut and could prove the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: Emma's Letter has been in the thick of the action since a terrible debut and is fancied more than India Gold, who caused a 40/1 shock at Musselburgh. Stay Sharp and Archangel Josepi have claims, but there are a couple of interesting nursery newcomers lurking among the opposition. The application of blinkers should help 110,000gns yearling FLORIDA SUITE harness her true potential and she is preferred to Prancy Peer, who is out of a half-sister to two Classic winners.
