ATR VERDICT: The three last-start winners stand out and Grand Vendetta's Taunton triumph has been boosted by the runner-up going one better since. He will encounter very different conditions here, though, and SOGNA IN GRANDE might be happier on a quicker surface because he bounced off the top of the ground to win a point-to-point prior to making a successful hurdling debut at Warwick. That form has worked out too. Amatchmadeinheaven struck at the first time of asking for the Twiston-Davies team at Exeter, but needs to prove his stamina.

ATR VERDICT: Belaya River wasn't able to defy a penalty at Kelso in February but although he lost little in defeat and appeals as one of the likelier winners, DIAMOND JIM gets the vote. The son of Teofilo came up short at Warwick having won at Haydock, but he now goes handicapping from a reasonable mark and could also improve for the addition of cheekpieces. Captain Cool heads the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: Big Boy Barney ran out a comfortable winner at Huntingdon and Fergal O'Brien's charge has to be respected after a 5lb rise from the handicapper. However, the vote goes to INTENZO. The five-year-old showed plenty of promise on his chase debut at Sedgefield and the switch to a flatter track may yield some improvement. Gilbertina's third at Newcastle gives her every chance of a decent showing.

Golan Loop went some way to putting a C&D disappointment behind him when third at Hereford, admittedly well held. ATR VERDICT: DIXIE COWBOY put a couple of moderate efforts behind him to fill the runner-up spot at Market Rasen and with the seven-year-old having much less to prove than a few of these, a similar level of performance could suffice. Although Myfavouritesister and Beep Beep Becky are both yet to tackle a fence, they probably wouldn't need to find stacks of improvement. Olly Murphy's new recruit should be all the wiser for that experience and natural improvement could suffice. Novelista is another who displayed a useful level of ability on the Flat and ought to find this less taxing than the Ascot juvenile event he contested on his hurdling bow. ATR VERDICT: Kingcormac arrives in search of a hat-trick after scoring at Exeter and Hereford last month. The 10-year-old appears likely to be very competitive once again after going up 3lb for the latest of those, but preference is for APPLICATIONOFCASH. He was arguably a fortunate winner at Taunton on yard debut for Gordon Treacy, but it wouldn't be a surprise if stepping back up in trip aided his cause. Long Handicap: Mr Globalist 9 - 11

ATR VERDICT: COSMIC SOUL has struck up a fine partnership with William Maggs, with the pair registering a quickfire course double last month. A 10lb hike obviously demands more of Patrick Neville's six-year-old, but he was successful on the level prior to that brace and is on a steep upward curve. Laddie Cooper Mia got closest to him last time, although she was seven and a half lengths adrift so a 9lb pull may not be enough for her to turn the tables. Knacker Trapper took a step forward at Newcastle, but needs to back that up.

Christian Williams' charge has yet to shine, but she steps up markedly in trip for this handicap bow and it's quite possible that she'll take a big leap forward.

Andrew Balding's filly seemed to appreciate the drop to 7f when third at Newcastle in October and this appears to be a suitable opportunity for her to strike. Divine Wish outran her 80/1 odds when fourth over C&D in January and has to be on the shortlist along with Rajwaah, whose dam is an unraced sister to Group 1 winner Nezwaah.

Magic Trip found the step up to Group 3 company too much when sent to Italy after winning his first start at Bath. ATR VERDICT: Lion of Mali arrives following narrow wins at Wolverhampton and over C&D. James Fanshawe's charge must be respected given the rate at which he's progressing, but preference is for SHAFI. A Southwell novice winner back in October, he failed to see out the mile at Chelmsford but can be seen to greater effect over this trip. Pints In Peace broke the maiden at Wolverhampton, but Deluded wasn't disgraced in a valuable sales race at York when last seen and looks the bigger threat now handicapping.

ATR VERDICT: MOMENT OF LIGHT (winner) had the measure of Parisian Scholar (second) when the pair met over track and trip last time and although a 6lb swing should favour the latter, it might not be enough. Starship Trooper shaped with promise on his return at Southwell three weeks ago and should be capable of better, as might Green Falcon, who sports first-time cheekpieces for his handicap bow.

Top Tip: MOMENT OF LIGHT (2)

Watch out for: STARSHIP TROOPER (4)

ATR VERDICT: Arry Up beat MADMAN to make a successful handicap debut at Leicester back in October but hasn't been seen since, whereas the runner-up is battle-hardened from a winter on the all-weather. Tom Ward's C&D winner was pipped at Lingfield on his most recent appearance and his conqueror has followed up since. Lovethiswayagain is of definite interest now trying handicap company for the first time, and Corniche Girl should be in the thick of the action too.

ATR VERDICT: Em Four kept Brazen Idol at bay to strike over C&D, although the second was appearing for the first time in almost two years and is 2lb better off. Even so, they may both have to settle for supporting roles behind STATE OF MADNESS, who beat Em Four to the runner-up berth at Southwell and has since left Charlie Clover to join Mark Loughnane. Ruby Red Gove lost nothing in defeat when attempting to supplement a Wolverhampton victory at Southwell and she rounds out the shortlist.
