6 (1)		72	YIMMNA (FR) 38 b f Siyouni - Right Hand	3 9 - 2	Tom Marquand W J Haggas	-

ATR VERDICT: QUISANA sets the standard according to official ratings and could be tough to deal with if taking another step forward. The daughter of Ghaiyyath had other options this week and the hint is taken that connections assume this is the most suitable route for her to break her maiden. Moonlit Surf, Yimmna and Aura Champagne are potential improvers to monitor closely in the betting market.

6 (4)		26	SECRET HARVEST 51 ch f Tasleet - Keep The Secret	3 9 - 2	Cieren Fallon C Allen	-

ATR VERDICT: This won't take much winning and the consistent Queen Sana probably won't get many better opportunities to shed her maiden tag, but the presence of ROYALE UNION in here could throw a spanner in the works. The daughter of Starman has posted a couple of solid efforts over 7f without quite seeing out the trip, and it's possible she could take a big step forward now eased in distance. Secret Harvest heads the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: Blue Sign was thought good enough to be pitched into the Albany at Royal Ascot and then a deeper maiden at Newmarket last time out. Although outclassed in those events, this is an easier assignment and she sets the benchmark from those with experience. However, PIPER CEE and Lady Leora are notable debutants that capture the imagination with more appeal. As a half-sister to a Grade 3-winning sprinter, the former edges preference over this trip.

ATR VERDICT: Progressive three-year-old ZOUSTAR DREAMS has won three of her last four starts, with the most recent a cosy Nottingham triumph, and Ed Dunlop's filly might not be done improving just yet despite a further 5lb rise. Angel Numbers merits respect having made a successful start to life with Ruth Carr at Thirsk and, although Creative Queen hasn't pulled up any trees in handicaps so far, perhaps the addition of cheekpieces will help.

ATR VERDICT: Dissenter, Fern Clyde and Boleto command respect as the only previous winners and each of them merit close inspection in the betting. However, STAR PEOPLE made a dual Group 2 entrant pull out all the stops to land a match race at Ayr last month and a mark of 71 could underestimate this son of Sioux Nation on his nursery debut.

ATR VERDICT: DARK CLOUD RISING won over C&D before finishing third at Pontefract when he certainly had excuses - slowly away and short of room over a furlong out. David O'Meara's charge is worth another chance given a lot seemed to go wrong last time and his proven effectiveness at this track is a big plus. Ayr second Lord Roxby heads the list of dangers from Saint Lawrence.

6 (6)		164870	UP THE MONK 33 b g Mayson - Angel Song	4 8 - 10b1	Mason Paetel (5) M Appleby	47

ATR VERDICT: With solid recent form thin on the ground, this could prove a suitable opportunity for INVINCIBLE CROWN to secure a fifth career victory. The four-year-old is only 3lb higher than his Musselburgh triumph at the end of June and edges the vote over Hurt You Never. Adrian Nicholls' mare has tumbled down the ratings and may prove dangerous fitted in first-time blinkers. Stable debutant Little Jaybee is worth a market check too.

ATR VERDICT: Only five declared for this handicap but it's competitive stuff given there are three last-time-out winners going to post. Poet's Dawn is the sole course scorer and he's going in search of a hat-trick, while Polygram stayed on well to win at Pontefract. They've both got EVERYONEKNOWSADAVE to beat, though, as he was really impressive when scoring at Nottingham and might still be improving.

ATR VERDICT: Del Corso made the most of a small-field affair with an all-the-way victory over C&D and he's sure to prove a warm order to follow up. However, he's effectively racing off 6lb more with Kieran Shoemark replacing an apprentice, which could leave the door open for DAWN OF LIBERATION. Ruth Carr's gelding arrives on the back of a creditable third at Beverley and a 1lb drop in the ratings can only help. Sedeirah can also make her presence felt.

ATR VERDICT: Amber Hamur made all at Hamilton and comes here boasting an attractive profile, so commands respect. However, VEGA'S VIRTUE is becoming a bit of a course specialist and won here again last time. Tim Easterby's charge won't be far off the pace and is taken to pounce late on. ATR VERDICT: Being slowly away has been a common feature for the in-form Theme Park this season and he may have to play second fiddle once more, with the unexposed VENETIAN LION fancied to capitalise. William Haggas' three-year-old finished with a rattle on his second-placed handicap bow at Southwell recently and, off an unchanged mark, he looks a winner in waiting. Symphony Of Joy is heading in the right direction and completes the shortlist.

ATR VERDICT: Rocsane has placed on two of her three starts and might not need much more to open her account, but there are a couple of interesting newcomers in here, namely LOVELY DARK ANGEL. The 70,000-euro purchase is blessed with speed from the dam's side and, from a duo that will still be riding the crest of a wave following Bow Echo's Sussex Stakes triumph, it would come as no surprise were she good enough. Proper Naughty could have a part to play too.

Top Tip: LOVELY DARK ANGEL (1)

Watch out for: ROCSANE (6)
