ATR VERDICT: CABALLO DE MAR backed up his Doncaster Cup triumph with an hard-fought success when he retained the Prix du Cadran at Longchamp a fortnight ago. Assuming this doesn't come around too soon, this high-class stayer is confidently fancied to cement his authority over Queenstown, who was a game third in Paris but was running on empty near the finish. The St Leger winner Highwayman has benefitted from a longer rest and may be a bigger danger, despite trying 2m for the first time. Gregory, who won the 2023 Queens Vase here, has proven stamina and also rates a key player after Listed wins at York and Newmarket. Daiquiri Bay is 3-3 in handicaps this season and has each-way appeal on the early prices.

ATR VERDICT: MISTER URSUS has flourished since joining Olly Murphy and, with Tom Hutsby claiming 10lb from the saddle, the progressive five-year-old can maintain his forward momentum on his return. Misterdoc is also bidding to complete a three-timer after wins in novice company at Ludlow and Perth. He debuts in a handicap from a workable mark and is dangerous to rule out. The consistent Arctic Voyage is the pick of the rest.

ATR VERDICT: Chasing debutant Reteti commands respect based on the pick of his hurdles form, while Myrighthandman was a winner in the point-to-point sphere so could improve for the switch to fences. However, slender preference is for the consistent ANOTHER FOLLY, who is more wily in this discipline and is fancied to put his knowledge to good use. Playful Fox is one to keep an eye on in the betting on just his second chasing start.

ATR VERDICT: With question marks surrounding his rivals, this looks a suitable opportunity for NORMAN FLETCHER to score for the first time since November 2024. The Twiston-Davies yard is in rude health and the seven-year-old makes obvious appeal after his latest second at Uttoxeter. Beorma recorded seven consecutive triumphs before pulling up at Stratford 53 days ago and could be freshened up by a break, while stable debutant Mount Anglesby is worth a second look in the betting.

ATR VERDICT: DIAMONT KATIE improved for being ridden more prominently when scoring over C&D with something in hand. A 5lb rise could prove to be lenient for Karl Burke's filly and she edges the vote over Pontefract winner Brighton Boy. The Gregorian gelding shouldn't have any issues stepping back up from 6f and isn't taken lightly dropping in class. Stablemate Quest For Fun is also of interest given his current form.
